Our Full-Day Preschool curriculum is inspired by the Reggio Emilia Approach, Emergent Curriculum, and Project Approach providing a foundation for life-long learning. The classroom is an enriching environment that stimulates a child's natural desire to learn. The outdoor environment is an extension of our classroom along with weekly nature walks on the Highland State Recreation trails. Each child's creativity, individual learning style, and needs are attended to by our highly qualified staff of teachers. The multi-age preschool grouping of children 2 ½ to 5 years old is intended to capitalize on the differences in the experience, knowledge, and abilities of the children. During the course of the day our teachers collect documentation of the children learning experiences through written observation and photographs. This documentation is put together and transformed in our daily "Learning Story" that emailed to the parents. The benefits of this child-centered program are endless!
